

Linda Carroll

Writer, Therapist, Seminar Leader,
Relationship Coach

Books

Love Cycles: From Merging to Wholehearted Loving, April, 2013

“A rare and exceptional book that offers a wise and hopeful map of the geography of love.”

–Sam Keen, writer and philosopher

Remember Who you Are, Conari Press, 2008

“A lovely, timeless meditation on what it means to be a sentient, spiritual woman at home in one’s own body and mind.”

–Kaja Perina, Editor-in-Chief of Psychology Today

Her Mother’s Daughter, Doubleday, 2006

“A fascinating, beautifully written work...Carroll unites the intimate perspective of a psychologist, the contextual sense of a historian, and the clarity of a fine biographer in one absorbing package.”

–Martha Beck, author of Finding Your Own North Star

About Linda

Linda was born in 1944 in San Francisco and adopted into an Italian Catholic family. Very early, she discovered poetry as a form of prayer and a window into an expanded life. In 1961, when Linda graduated from high school, San Francisco was already buzzing with counterculture music, arts, and style, and Linda found herself selling beads and going to peace marches. After finishing her bachelors degree in Oregon in the seventies, she moved to New Zealand, where she raised children, sheep, and many dogs. She returned to Oregon in the eighties, received a Masters in counseling, and began practicing as a therapist. In the nineties, she and her veterinarian husband, Tim Barraud, began to teach a couples course based on the Imago work of Harville Hendrix, the PAIRS training of Dr. Lori Gordon, and their own insights, study and practices. They continue to offer retreats and seminars all over the world, and Linda is a regular presenter at Rancho La Puerta, a Worlds Best Destination Spa.

As an adult, Linda found her birth mother, the novelist Paula Fox, and began to understand her deep-seated love of poetry anew. She has five children, nine grandchildren, and lives in Corvallis, Oregon with her husband and two Jack Russells, and continues her lifelong path of spiritual seeking.
